

The current work and all of the changes are immediately deployed on our staging server a few times a day. You can see the progress every day.

At the end of day/week/month, you get the work report. This is a list of tasks with information about how much time it took and what was done.

When the payment is done, we deploy the whole current work to your production server and do all required system work.

